From later reports it seems the lack of feed for cattle has been over drawn. 3000 head ranging in the Bradshaw mountains was talking to a reporter of THE REPUBLICAN yesterday and says, his cattle had not looked better for many years than they do this winter.

The only scarcity of feed is in the lower lands where grass is quite short but on the mountains there is excellent who has been spending some time in Phoenix, started for Riverside, Cal., this grass and cattle on the high range are fat enough for beef. Water in the mountain is plentiful. The silver streams of the wrinkled gulches flow constantly and the cattle fare equally as well as those in the alfalfa fields. In this country cattle are gathered and calves branded twice a year, the autumn rodeo closing about the middle of November. During the last few months he says, I have ridden over all the range north of here almost to Prescott and find cattle ready for the market every where. There is an unaccountable increase of water in many localitities. The Black Canyon creek is now a strong stream, the water running nearly its full length. Three weeks ago it lacked only two miles of reaching the Agua Fria, while water in the latter stream reaches far below the Prescott wagon road. Even the springs are pouring forth a stronger stream than usual, although there has been no rain of any consequence. Various theories are advanced to ac-
